1682 0497 issues with duplicate title tags

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned.

Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

497 0495 pages have duplicate meta descriptions

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords.

Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages.

For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

495 0492 pages have duplicate content issues

About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank.

In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix.

Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2.

Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates.

4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5.

Provide some unique content on the webpage. For more information, please read these articles:

<https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/66359?hl=en> and

179 pages have slow load speed

179 ⁰

About this issue: Page (HTML) load speed is one of the most important ranking factors. The quicker your page loads, the higher the rankings it can receive. Moreover, fast-loading pages positively affect user experience and may increase your conversion rates.

Please note that "page load speed" usually refers to the amount of time it takes for a webpage to be fully rendered by a browser. However, crawler only measures the time it takes to load a webpage's HTML code - load times for images, JavaScript and CSS are not factored in. How to fix: The main factors that negatively affect your HTML page generation time are your server's performance and the density of your webpage's HTML code.

So, try to clean up your webpage's HTML code. If the problem is with your web server, you should think about moving to a better hosting service with more resources.

15 internal images are broken

15 ⁰

About this issue: An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists, its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality. How to fix: To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following: 1.

If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL. 2. If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one.

3. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code.

3 pages couldn't be crawled

3 ⁰

1 incorrect page found in sitemap.xml

1 ⁰

About this issue: A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file. This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that: 1.

lead to webpages with the same content. 2. redirect to a different webpage.

3. return non-200 status code. Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected.

How to fix: Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

6803 05413 issues with unminified JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>.
How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

5413 0683 pages have a JavaScript and CSS total size that is too large

About this issue: This issue is triggered if the total transfer size of the JavaScript and CSS files used on your page exceeds 2 MB. The size of the JavaScript and CSS files used on a webpage is one of the important factors for a page's load time. Having lots of clunky JavaScript and CSS files make your webpage "heavier" in weight, thus increasing its load time. This in turn leads to a poor user experience and lower search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>.
How to fix: Review your pages to make sure that they only contain necessary JavaScript and CSS files.
If all resources are important for your page, consider reducing their transfer size.

683 0670 pages have low text-HTML ratio

About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.
How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

670 015 pages don't have meta descriptions

About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users.
For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.
How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

15 011 pages have too much text within the title tags

About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.
How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

11 0

4 pages don't have an h1 heading

4 0

About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly.

How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

3 pages have duplicate H1 and title tags

3 0

About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page.

For more information, please see this Google article:

<https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

2 pages don't have enough text within the title tags

2 0

About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article:

<https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

1 external link is broken

1 0

About this issue: Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken.

Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website. How to fix: Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

1 external image is broken

1 0

About this issue: A broken external image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists or because its URL is misspelled. Having too many broken external images negatively affects user experience and may be a signal to search engines that your website is poorly coded or maintained. How to fix: To fix a broken external image, perform one of the following: 1.

If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one. 2. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code.

3. If an image moved to a different location and you know its new address, change its URL.

408 pages have only one incoming internal link

About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them.

How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

259 links on this page have non-descriptive anchor text

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a non-descriptive anchor text is used for a link (either internal or external). An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't give any idea of what the linked-to page is about, for example, "click here", "right here", etc. This type of anchor provides little value to users and search engines as it doesn't provide any information about the target page.

Also, such anchors will offer little in terms of the target page's ability to be indexed by search engines, and as a result, rank for relevant search requests. For more information on the criteria used to trigger this check, refer to kb article title. How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use a succinct anchor text that describes the page's content.

For best practices on how to optimize your anchor text, refer to the "Write good link text" section in Google's Search Engine Optimization (SEO) Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0.

79 resources are formatted as page link

About this issue: We detected that some links to resources are formatted with `` HTML element. An `` tag with a href attribute is used to link to other webpages and must only contain a page URL. Search engines will crawl your site from page to page by following these HTML page links.

When following a page link that contains a resource, for example, an image, the returned page will not contain anything except an image. This may confuse search engines and will indicate that your site has poor architecture. How to fix: Review your links.

Replace `` links with tags necessary for specific resources. For example, if you'd like to add an image, use an `` tag with an alt attribute describing the contents of your image.

79 0

7 pages have more than one H1 tag

7 0

2 pages are blocked from crawling

2 0

1 link on this page have no anchor text

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page.

So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0.

1 link to external page or resource returns a 403 HTTP status code

1 0

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a crawler gets a 403 code when trying to access an external webpage or resource via a link on your site. A 403 HTTP status code is returned if a user is not allowed to access the resource for some reason. In the case of crawlers, this usually means that a crawler is being blocked from accessing content at the server level.

How to fix: Check that the page is available to browsers and search engines. To do this, follow a link in your browser and check the Google Search Console data. 1.

If a page or resource is not available, contact the owner of the external website to restore deleted content or change the link on your page. 2. If a page is available but our bot is blocked from accessing it, you can ask the external website owner to unblock the page, so we can check all resources correctly.

You can also hide this issue from your list.

Duplicate meta descriptions

- i About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

Duplicate content

i About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix. Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2. Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates. 4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5. Provide some unique content on the webpage. Slow page (HTML) load speed i About this issue: Page (HTML) load speed is one of the most important ranking factors. The quicker your page loads, the higher the rankings it can receive. Moreover, fast-loading pages positively affect user experience and may increase your conversion rates. Please note that "page load speed" usually refers to the amount of time it takes for a webpage to be fully rendered by a browser. However, crawler only measures the time it takes to load a webpage's HTML code - load times for images, JavaScript and CSS are not factored in. How to fix: The main factors that negatively affect your HTML page generation time are your server's performance and the density of your webpage's HTML code. So, try to clean up your webpage's HTML code. If the problem is with your web server, you should think about moving to a better hosting service with more resources.

Broken internal images

- i About this issue: An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists, its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality. How to fix: To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following: 1. If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL. 2. If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one. 3. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code

Incorrect pages found in sitemap.xml

i About this issue: A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file. This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that: 1. lead to webpages with the same content. 2. redirect to a different webpage. 3. return non-200 status code. Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected. How to fix: Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

Unminified JavaScript and CSS files

i About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

Too large JavaScript and CSS total size

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if the total transfer size of the JavaScript and CSS files used on your page exceeds 2 MB. The size of the JavaScript and CSS files used on a webpage is one of the important factors for a page's load time. Having lots of clunky JavaScript and CSS files make your webpage "heavier" in weight, thus increasing its load time. This in turn leads to a poor user experience and lower search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Review your pages to make sure that they only contain necessary JavaScript and CSS files. If all resources are important for your page, consider reducing their transfer size.

Low text to HTML ratio

i About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Missing meta description

i About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

Long title element

- i About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

Missing h1

- i About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

Duplicate content in h1 and title

i About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

Short title element

i About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

Broken external links

- i About this issue: Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website. How to fix: Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

Broken external images

i About this issue: A broken external image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists or because its URL is misspelled. Having too many broken external images negatively affects user experience and may be a signal to search engines that your website is poorly coded or maintained. How to fix: To fix a broken external image, perform one of the following: 1. If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one. 2. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code. 3. If an image moved to a different location and you know its new address, change its URL

Pages with only one internal link

i About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

Links with non-descriptive anchor text

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a non-descriptive anchor text is used for a link (either internal or external). An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't give any idea of what the linked-to page is about, for example, "click here", "right here", etc. This type of anchor provides little value to users and search engines as it doesn't provide any information about the target page. Also, such anchors will offer little in terms of the target page's ability to be indexed by search engines, and as a result, rank for relevant search requests. For more information on the criteria used to trigger this check, refer to kb article title. How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use a succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. For best practices on how to optimize your anchor text, refer to the "Write good link text" section in Google's Search Engine Optimization (SEO) Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0.

Resources formatted as page links

i About this issue: We detected that some links to resources are formatted with `` HTML element. An `` tag with a `href` attribute is used to link to other webpages and must only contain a page URL. Search engines will crawl your site from page to page by following these HTML page links. When following a page link that contains a resource, for example, an image, the returned page will not contain anything except an image. This may confuse search engines and will indicate that your site has poor architecture. How to fix: Review your links. Replace `` links with tags necessary for specific resources. For example, if you'd like to add an image, use an `` tag with an `alt` attribute describing the contents of your image.

Multiple h1 tags

- i About this issue: Although multiple `<h1>` tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one `<h1>` tag per page. Including multiple `<h1>` tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple `<h2>`-`<h6>` tags instead of an `<h1>`.

Blocked from crawling

- i About this issue: If a page cannot be accessed by search engines, it will never appear in search results. A page can be blocked from crawling either by a robots.txt file or a noindex meta tag. How to fix: Make sure that pages with valuable content are not blocked from crawling by mistake.

Links with no anchor text

- i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page. So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0

External pages or resources with 403 HTTP status code

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a crawler gets a 403 code when trying to access an external webpage or resource via a link on your site. A 403 HTTP status code is returned if a user is not allowed to access the resource for some reason. In the case of crawlers, this usually means that a crawler is being blocked from accessing content at the server level. How to fix: Check that the page is available to browsers and search engines. To do this, follow a link in your browser and check the Google Search Console data. 1. If a page or resource is not available, contact the owner of the external website to restore deleted content or change the link on your page. 2. If a page is available but our bot is blocked from accessing it, you can ask the external website owner to unblock the page, so we can check all resources correctly. You can also hide this issue from your list.
